

Spring 2023 - Legal Intern - Global Justice Center (New York, NY/Remote)

The Global Justice Center (GJC), an international law and gender equality focused human rights organization, is seeking a highly motivated and energetic Legal Intern for the spring 2023 semester. We are looking for a dedicated advocate with a passion for human rights and gender equality who is interested in working with our small and dynamic team. The ideal candidate is a team player who is familiar with or interested in international human rights norms, reproductive rights, and accountability for sexual and gender-based violence. GJC values our interns, and we aim to provide plenty of opportunities for creativity in legal analysis, academic growth, exposure to current trends and issues in international human rights law, and most importantly, the ability to make a strong contribution to a pioneering international human rights legal organization.

GJC offers interns to complete their position either remotely or in-person in our New York office. As such, applicants are encouraged to apply regardless of location. Access to reliable internet is necessary. Interns must commit to a minimum of 10 hours per week.

Qualifications:

- Enrolled law student.
- Interest in and knowledge of women's rights, international relations, law, or public policy preferred.
- Strong verbal, written, and interpersonal communication skills.
- Languages a plus.
- Ability to work independently.

How to Apply:

To apply, send a current resume, cover letter, and a writing sample in a single .pdf file to resumes@globaljusticecenter.net with the subject line: Spring 2023 Legal Internship.

Only applicants who have been selected for an interview will be contacted. Application Deadline: October 31st, 2022. Applications will be reviewed on a rolling basis.

Compensation:

Due to limited resources, the Global Justice Center encourages interns to seek outside funding or university course credit for their internships. In the event that outside funding cannot be secured, the Global Justice Center will provide a modest, one-time stipend to help defray living costs. The internship stipend is not considered salary or meant as work compensation. Accepted interns will receive more information regarding stipends upon their acceptance notice.

The Global Justice Center is committed to diversity and inclusion, and is actively seeking and encouraging applications from women, people of color, individuals with disabilities and/or people who are LGBTQIA. We believe that advocacy is strongest and most effective when it reflects a range of perspectives and diverse backgrounds, particularly those who have historically been marginalized or underrepresented. As an equal opportunity employer GJC will consider all qualified applicants without regard to race, color, religion, gender, gender identity or expression, sexual orientation, national origin, genetics, disability, age, or veteran status.
